DESCRIPTION

2011 Aston Martin DBS

Finished in Quantum Silver over Obsidian Black Semi Aniline (Q Exclusive) Balmoral leather, we are pleased to welcome this superb DBS back to the showroom.

Replacing the first generation Vanquish as the flagship of the Aston Martin range in 2007, the DBS is a significant model in the history of Aston Martin. Not only being, at the time, the most capable high performance GT model Aston Martin had produced, with 510bhp, a stiffer chassis and carbon ceramic brakes providing awesome stopping power, but also the DBS was to play a starring role in ‘Casino Royale’, the 007 movie that provided Daniel Craig his debut as our favourite secret agent, firmly putting the model on the map and providing dealers worldwide with full order books at launch. Interestingly, Aston Martin went on to build just over 2,500 DBS’ (354 of those being finished in Quantum Silver) before production ceased in 2012.

First registered in April 2011, in 2+2 and ‘Touchtronic 2’ specification. Optional extras chosen include; Bang & Olufsen Beosound audio system, Piano Black fascia trim, garage door opener with auto dim mirror, polished alloy door tread plates and 10 spoke Diamond Turned wheels. Latterly, the fascia panel has been upgraded with glass buttons and an Alcantara steering wheel has been fitted by its previous owner in 2019, at not insignificant cost. The original wheel can be refitted to the car if that is the preference of its next custodian.

Having been serviced annually by Aston Martin agents and ourselves since 2022, we can confirm that this example is in the highest quality throughout.

With the best DBS examples now being highly sought after by the Aston Martin enthusiast community, with many suggesting that the purposeful yet timeless styling of the model thus far yet to be bettered, we would go as far as saying there now is the perfect 'Time to Buy'!

Supplied freshly serviced, to manufacturers schedule, with 12 months MOT, 12 months warranty, along with a custom fit Aston Martin car cover, Aston Martin battery conditioner and model relevant cherished registration number.

Classically specified, fully optioned, low mileage and much cherished!

Available for viewing and demonstration now at our Hertfordshire showrooms.
